

Call for ART at ESA 2021

Are you an artist or scientist creating work at the art and ecology nexus?

You are invited to submit artwork for an upcoming art exhibition at the 2021 Ecological Society of America annual meeting in Long Beach, CA! This exhibition will consist of physical and virtual galleries that highlight science and art collaborations within the field of ecology. All artwork will be considered for the virtual gallery; physical installations will be selected based on space availability. Please provide the following information to participate in this opportunity (deadline is rolling):

1. Your name
2. E-mail address
3. Are you a current ESA member?
4. Would you require financial assistance for this opportunity (e.g., for registration or travel)?
5. Your artistic practice/medium + 3 examples of your work
6. An artist's statement that highlights artistic-ecological connections in your work
7. How would you like to present your work (physically or virtually)?
8. If you would like to present your work physically, what are your needs (how much space would be required, do you need AV equipment, etc.)?

email all materials to: COURTNEY.CURRIER@ASU.EDU